Deadline nears for mandatory phishing training

If you were caught in the latest net of phishing sent out by Asante's ITS Department, you have until Monday, Oct. 31 to complete mandatory training, or risk losing access to your email account.

In September, the ITS Department sent out a mock phishing email which caught about 1,000 Asante employees who clicked on the phishing link. Of those employees, about 500 entered their username and password when prompted.

Those employees caught by the phishing lure were notified that they must complete a mandatory phishing training module in ALEC by the end of October. If not completed, the employee's email will be deactivated until the course is completed.

Due to the serious possible consequences of phishing by cyber criminals, the ITS Department will continue to focus on educating staff members on how to recognize and avoid clicking on phishing emails.
