ALEC to Receive Facelift in January

Some know it as the Asante Learning and Education Center, and others by its acronym – ALEC. Still others know it as HealthStream, which is the website vendor for Asante’s online employee learning tool.

Beginning Jan. 18, ALEC – or whatever name you call it – will also be known for its new look.

The secure online platform will get a visual and practical makeover that includes a new name for the employee landing page – “My To-Do List.” The list will include everything each individual employee who logs into the system needs to accomplish, including assignments, electives and live classes. The changes are intended to make task completion more straightforward and efficient.

There will be a “Quick Start” button that allows a user to jump to the next actionable item on his or her to-do list, and a “Register for Class” prompt for a user who is enrolling in or has been assigned a class to choose that class from the ALEC schedule. Users have sometimes assumed in the past that starting a course was the same as signing up for it – which is not the case.

A new tab that lists a user’s completed courses will make it easier for transcripts and certificates to be viewed and even sorted alphabetically. A new catalog tab will have functions that make it easy for users to filter available courses.

An interactive notifications tab will feature easy-to-see messages that guide users as they complete tasks.

Employees can log on to the ALEC website on their work computers or from home.
